WEDNESDAY, JAN. 27, 1838.

It is reported, says the New York Herald, that Gen. Scott, probably by the next steamer, will dejust for California to superintend an army moveent from the Western side of the Continent against the Mormons. The Herald discredits the report, but we think without sufficient reason. It thinks that Gen. Scott can better superintend the projected army movement at Washington or New York than at San Francisco. This, though plausible, does not seem to us to be conclusive. If the movement in question is really contemplated, we shall not be surprised to hear of Gen. Scott's departure for the Pacific shere at any moment. There is manifestly a great difference between the efficiency of a supervision conducted on the spot and that of one conducted two or three thousand miles distant-a difference which it doesn't require a military eye to perceive. Moreover, it is generally understood that the Pacific movement is a pet suggestion of Gen. Scott's, and he may very naturally be supposed to feel an especial solicitude for its success. A day or two, though, will contirm or dissipate the ramor.

A HEAVY VERDICT .- A Cincinnati jury has mulcted Wm. Mathers, a deputy sheriff in that city, in $10,000 for a breach of promise. Mary Jane Cribbet sued Wm. Mathers for not fulfilling his promise to marry her, and in aggravation of damiges it was in evidence that the defendant was the father of an illegitimate child, born on the 22d of March, 1857. The complainant is 19 years of age, and quite good looking. She testified positively to the marriage contract, and to the various subsequent acts of defendant which resulted in the present suit. The damages were originally laid at $10,000, and the jury, after an absence of half an hour, returned a verdict for the full amount asked for by the complainant.

TENNESSEE FREE BANKS .- The Clarksville Chronicle learns that the Bank of Tazewell, Bank of Claiborne. Bank of Jefferson and Bank of Trenton having failed to make the 10 per cent, additional deposit of bonds called for, will be put into liquidation by the comptroller. All the other Free Banks have made good the additional call of 10 per cent., and now have 20 per cent of bonds on deposit above their circulation, which makes the notes of all the Banks that have deposited State stock good beyond a doubt And the Legislature should see that the Banks that have deposited endorsed bonds make an additional deposit at once.

It will be seen from a telegraphic dispatch in this morning's Journal that Gen. Walker was recently welcomed at Mobile by a National salute, partook of the hospitalities of the city, was arrested, discharged on a writ of habeas corpus, and heaven knows what beside, all within the space of considerably less than two days. Undoubtedly he is the fastest Walker living.

CIRCUIT COURT .- The criminal docket has been one through with. No trials took place yesterday, and the Court was occupied in hearing motions for new trials, &c.

In the case of W. II. Webb, convicted to the Penitentiary for three years for bigamy, the Court granted a new trial. The motion was argued by Messrs. I'hillips and Riley. Webb is said to be a very weak-minded person.

The cases of John Sweeney and James McMullen charged with murder, and of Alexander Campbell, charged with stealing, were continued, as was also the case of Thomas Thompson, on the part of the Commonwealth, and his bail was reduced to $700. All the parties were committed.

In the case of John Chambers, for obtaining money under false pretences, the indictment was ignored and he was recommitted.

Frank Jones was discharged, the grand jury havng failed to find a true bill against him.

The number of convictions during the term have been nineteen, among which was one to imprison-ment in the county jail, and in one (Webb's) a new trial was granted.

The Court will meet at 9 o'clock this morning to pass sentence on the seventeen prisoners convicted. The following are their names and the number of

A FELICITOUS COMPARISON.—A lively dispute has been runuing on of late as to which was the happiest comparison in the language. After expending a good deal of fancy and attention on the subject, we have serious thoughts of declaring in favor of the following:

XXXVTH CONGRESS-FIRST SESSION. Tuesday's Proceedings Concluded.

Taesday's Proceedings Concluded.

Washington, Jan. 26.

Senate — Mr. Davis, in reply to questions from Mr. Toombs, said that the first section of the military increase bill would add 30 companies or 2,220 men. If the secend section was adopted, of course the number of the men will depend upon the manner in which the army is posted. If posted as now, with the 30 companies to be added to the first section, the total increase will be nearly 7000 privates. Mr. Toombs would strike out the dirst section, as the increase of the army would be large enough as provided in the second section, and that would be a more appropriate mode. While he should vet against the bill, he deemed it his duty to make it as good as he could before the final vote. According to the present constitution of the army it was cupable of oeing enlarged to nearly 18,000 men, and with the proposed increase would reach nearly 25,000. This number was altogether too large. He presumed the occasion for the increase asked for was the anticipated Mormon war, though it was not yet a fact. Congress, which alone could make war, had not yet declared war against Ulah, and, unless the country had undergone a silent revolution, the President could not make war; but if there should be war, it must be exceedingly brief and but temporary. If these troops were to he raised for Utah, he should move an amendment that they should go out of service as soon as the war was over. This policy was pursued in the case of the enlistment of troops for the Mexican war. The force of Brigham Young was insignificant. The same story had been told three or four times of the necessity of more troops light the Indians on the frontier, and as scon as additional regiments were granted we had peace. The regiments, however, were not to be got rid of and were perminently fastened on the country.

Mr. Davis agreed to show the necessity of the passage of the bill. The army would amount to 11,966 men. If these companies be added, he preterred the plan of Calhoun to that of the present Secreta Washington, Jan. 26.

Mr. Ilunter favored the plan of the committee rather than that of the Secretary of War, but thought it ought to be accompanied with the proviso, that, when the present difficulties are settled, the extra force shall be disbanded. Unless that were done, it would be manifest that an increase was desired in the standing army. To that he was unwilling to agree. The subject was discussed in 1850, and four new regiments were at that time added to the existing army. It was supposed that that would be able and necessary to guard and protect the country in time of peace. He had seen nothing since to show a necessity for increase, taless it be the Mormon war. He suggested that in granting lands on the frontier, the donation should be accompanied by the condition that the Government shall command the services of the frontier men in cases of emergency.

that the Government shall command the services of the frontier men in cases of emergency.

Mr. Hale remarked that during the last year the Government expended about $19,000,000 for military purposes in time of profound peace. During the most expensive year of the last war with Great Britain, the military expenses of the Government never reached so high as $21,000,000. When he lirst took a seat in Congress, some fourteen or fifteen years ago, the army cost $1,000 additional men, which would saddle upon the Government a permanent annual inproposed to raise 7,000 additional men, which would saddle upon the Government a permanent annual increase of expenditure of about $12,000,000, and the idea that the army would ever go back and grow smaller, as long as we have ever go money or credit to sustain it, was too absurd to be advanced by any sensible man. There were no backward tracks when our Government began to spend money. There might be a war, no matter how expensive, and then when it was succeeded by peace the expenses would go right on steady, and increasing. In his opinion, the President wanted this additional force to carry out perfect freedom and popular sovereignty in Kan-sas. It had been said that Congress had not declared war against the Mormons, but it was a part of the past history of the country that war was once declared to exist by act of Mexico, and it might also be declared to exist now by act of Brigham Young. He should vote for the amendment proposed. He wanted to cut the bill down to a skeleton, and then he would vote against the skeleton itself. he would vote against the skeleton itself. [Laughter. | Messrs. Fessenden and Foster opposed the bill on the ground mainly that there was no necessity shown for its passage.

Mr. Seward was of opinion that the Utah tronbles were more serious than was generally imagined, but while he was disposed to afford all necessary relief to our troops now in the monntains, he was opposed to any more military forces being used in Kansas to enforce upon a majority laws passed by a minority; nor did he want to see them used again in the enforcement of the fugitive slave law. He gave notice that he should at the proper time propose an amend-ment to the effect that the officers and men raised under this new law shall be occupied only in the business of maintaining the constitution and laws in Utah, and when order shall be established there then they shall be disbanded. If the amendment be adopted he shall probably be able to support the bill.

Mr. Davis directed Seward's attention to the fact that inasmnch as a part of this increase was to be made to present companies, it would be impossible to adopt such an amendment as that without break-ing up the whole organization of the army. He contended that it was necessary to use military force to secure the enforcement of the laws in Kansas. Mr. Fessenden contended that the President no authority to make use of the army or militia for no authority to make use of the army or militia for the purpose of enforcing the laws of a territory.

Mr. Davis briefly replied, when, without taking the question, the Senate adjourned.

Mr. Phelps, in explanation, said that the fault was in ordering works to be printed before they were communicated to Congress, and mentioned the first volume of the Japan Exepdition, which cost the modest snm of $99,000, and the second volume of the Pacific Survey over $70,000.

Mr. Clark B. Cochrane referred to the fact that at the election in Kansas on the 4th of January over at the election in Kansas on the 4th of January over 10,000 votes were cast against the Lecomptou Constitution, rejecting it by 4 to 1; that the Free State candidates elected he had no doubt would be counted out. He was just as certain that to make up by frand what was wanting in number, was the object of the Lecompton or Calhoun movement. The question was whether Congress were prepared to forcefa loathed and abhorred constitution on a people, not only without their consent, but against their recorded will. That constitution was a swindle reeking with fraud and branded with popular condemnation, and was recommended to the approval of Congress by the President, not on the ground of evening with a large number of delegates to the American Convention.

partnership afairs of Sargent & Watson, and show that, apon a syttlement, nothing would be due Sargent, out of which his individual debts could be satisfied.

Judge Duyell delivered the opinion of the Court.

Held 1.—The answer was properly rejected. This proceeding cannot be considered an "action" as defined by the Civil Code, but comes more properly within that class of remedies demoniasted special or strandary proceedings, and the 48th section of the code expressly provides that motions of this character "shall be heard and determined without written pleadings, and placement given according to how and the rules of spoid." Benede, traits by laries summond by the sheriff or other officer, of the right of property taken by them onche excention or chir as warrant are stolished († 720, and the motion or trial by jury authorized by sec. 716 was manifestly intended as a substitute for the ancient "trial of the right of property." Now intended as a substitute for the ancient "trial of the right of property." Now also made a substitute for the ancient "trial of the right of property." Now it is the product of a substitute for the ancient "trial of the right of another the historical and also another his execution against a partner the interest of said partner in the effects belonging to a partnership concern is nuquestionable. (Phillips vs Cook 24: Wend. 324). The court below properly refused to allow appellants to introduce evidence showing that uson a callement of the partnership tallenses of Sargent & Wilson nothing would be due sargent. The tribunal provided by law for the trial of the issue here presented is attry unit for the investigation of partnership trausactions. Such matters to introduce evidence showing that uson a callement of the tribunal provided by law for the trial of the issue here presented is attry unit for the investigation of partnership trausactions. Such matters to introduce a such as a substitute of equity should have been appeased to online, and it is coing rather too faul in the direction

n cessury to determine. The judgment of the court below must be sustained, if the bond executed by appellants is a valid statutory bond.

3. But, in the opinion of the Ceart, the bond executed by appellants is not a valid statutory, bend.

By the 713th section of the Civil Code the person claiming property levied upon may enspend the sale thereof by executing bond with one or more sureties to the plaintiff in the execution, to the effect, the and by the succeeding section, "the party to chose the bond is executed may move the Court to which it is returned for a judgment thereon," So. The legal owner of the execution passes nothing hursu equity to the assignee, and all proceedings upon such execution, whether at lawar equity, must be in the name of the plaintif, though the assignee may unite with the plaintif, ether as coplaintiff or as a defundant in such proceedings. This has asways been the rube of practice both before and since the adoption of the code, and the reason upon which it is founded applies with great propriety to the point under consideration. This remedy by motion is a summary one, and the stringener of its operation, under certain ci emistances, is well illustrated by this case. The language of the Code is so emphate and mambiguous that nothing is left for argument or construction. The bond should have been executed to the "plaintif," in the execution" and to them alone; and, in that case, if Gabby had been able to manifest his equitable right under the alone; and in the tweet have proceeded in the names of his assignment, the bond would undoubtedly have hour, as in all similar cases, he must have proceeded in the names of his assignment, as a plaintiff or defendants.

It results, therefore, that no valid judgment could be rendered assaust the obligate appropriate action, the court deemed it promature to decide.

We would respectfully call the attention of the public to a MARINE entansoration placed in our window, showing the exact time. It is entirely of the World's Fair in Paris In conjection with the best London and French Chromometers, and sho at the World's Fair in New York, and hi every instance has received the highest premium for unequalted workmanship and correct time-keeping.

To our watch department as have secured the services of Mr. El. Helwig, of New York, Mr. II can execute any kind of watch-work fully entance to Jurgensen, Fredsheim, Adams, or any of the first London or systematics. In many fine Watches shot are broken parts are embetiated greatly inferior to the original, the entonies paying the full price for a particly please of work. The Watch apparently performs well afterward for a while, but the mere imperfect and less valuable than originally.

with severe hemorrhage from the lungs, in which Cod Li er Oil totally failed to produce any beneficial effect, and I was pericetly astonished at the immediate relief and diminution in the amount of expectoration which speedily followed its use. Such as Indigetion, Acidity of the Stomach, Colicky Pains, Hearthurn, Lose of Appetite, Desyondency, Costivenes, Blind and Bleeding Files. In all Nervous, Rheumatic, and Neuraigic Affections, It has in numerous in stances, proved highly beneficial, and in otherseffected a decided cure.

This is a purely vegetable compound, prepared onstrictly scientiff principles, after the manner of the celebrated Holland Fr fessor, Boerhave. Because of its great success in most of the European States, its introduction into the United States was intended more especially for those of our fatheriand scattered here and there over the face of this mighty country. Meeting with great success among them, I now offer it to the American public, knowing that la truly wonderful medicinal virtues must be acknowledged.

It isparticularly recommended to those persons whose constitutions may have been impaired by the continuous use of ardent spirits, or other forms of dissiplation. Gener-ally instantaneous in its effect, it finds its way directly to the seat of life, thrilling and quickening every nerve, raising up the drooping spirit, and, in lact, infusing new bealth and vigor in the system.

NOTIC':—Whoever expects to find this a beverage will be disappan ed; but to the sick, weak, and low spirited it will prove a grateful aromatic cordial. possessed of singular remedial properties.

CAUTION.

The great popularity of this delightful Aroma has induced many imitations, which the public should gnard against purchasing. Be not persuaded to buy anything else until you have siven Boerhave's Holland hitters a fartrial. One bottle will convince you how infinitely superior list of all these limitations.

The Pork Trane for the Week—The dull feeling noticed in the market for hogs, at the close of our last report, was but temporary; and. Thursday, the excisement was renewed, and prices of hogs and their product advanced very rapidly during that day. Friday, and Saturday; reaching the highest point Menday, when a reaction commenced, and yesterday the product was offered at $\frac{1}{2}$ ($\frac{1}{2}$) decline, without leading to much basiness.

The foundation upon which this alvance and evolution is predicted, is composed of the following reflections: A general improvement in business, a marked case in money matters, a better demand from one-most than was expected, and indications of a demand for English baseon far bayond what was thought of a mooth ago whilst the crop, though greater than last year, will not be a large of e properly speaking.

On the other side, there are some who think that pork will not be consumed largely at even present prices, all other kinds of food being so low; that the negrose will be led on nolasses instead of bacon, except the inter rules low, thus diminishing the consumption at the South, and that the amount taken by England cannot be, under any circumstances, large.

These are the sentiments of both parties, or in commercial parliance, the "Bulls" and "Rears," the former were largely in the majority until Monday; since then several of them have taken their posi iso on the Tence, "and the dictions are that the "Bears" will have some accessions to their number during the week. A Queer Lie.—A girl aged fifteen, in the employ of Mr. Wm. Blair, of Putaburg, Pa., was discovered, on the return of the family from charch last Surday, lying on the fleor tied hand and foot, and her clothes much lurned. She said that two men, with blackened faces, had forced open the kitchen door, tied her, &c., and then ransacked the house; and a gold watch was missing. The girl afterwards acknowledged that in handling the watch she broke the crystal, and, for fear of being reprimanded, she tied herself up, hurning her clothes, and hid the watch, and concoted the story about the thieves, and proved it by producing the watch from a corner where she had secreted it.

Mormon Preparations.—4 Guerrila Warfore Determined Upon — Echo Canon Fortified.—Latest from the Army.—Immense crops in Utah.

the Army.—Immense crops in Utah.

We have had an interview with a ger tleman who has just arrived in this city from California and Salt Lake City direct, having left the Mormon headquarters on the 10th of December—a date fully one month later than previous advic s. He furnishes the following narrative of his journey, with the latest intelligence from Salt Lake, from which it will be seen that preparations have been fully completed among the Mormons for a gue rilla warfare against the treops. Eaho Canon, a dithcult pass near the City, is held by a force of Mormon rangers, and great cire has been taken to fortify it in anticipation of an assault.

Our informant started from San Francisco on the 15th November, for Salt Lake, intending to proceed there to the States. He remained for some days in the Mermon Territory. Stopping at San Bernardino, on the way to Utah, he there had an interview with Captain Hunt and other Mormon leaders, who were crowded with business in making preparations for the emigration of the whole Mormon population from that country to Great Salt Lake City.

The Mormons in that region were selling off their farms, mills, workshops, &c., at great sacrifices. Six months ugo the same property could not have been purchased for ten times the prices new accepted. Everything they possessed was for sale, save the means of transporting them to the goal of their hooes, and the et ceteras required on the journey.

The party started from San Benardino for Little Salt I. ke, by way of the Calboun Pass. On the evening of the third day out, when camping at Kingston Springs, they discovered a party of Indians approaching in a very suspecious marner, creeping along a ledge of rocks about a hundred and fifty yards west of the Springs.

Several arrows came uncomfortably near. One poisoned arrow slightly wounded one of the miles, which in a few hours caused the animal great pain; another arrow went through the hat of one of the We have had an interview with a gentleman who which is a few hours caused the normal great pain; another arrow went through the bat of one of the party. They rode all night and reached Los Vegas:

the fellowing morning.

After leaving Los Vegas they passed small companies of Morinons, who had been successful in selling out early. All that was learned from them touching their emigration was simply that "the Prophet" had called them home.

From the time they entered on the Santa Clarariver (about eighty miles from the first Morinon settlement) they met numerous bat do of the Piute ludians, who were well armed pretty comfortably.

lindians, who were well armed, pretty comfortably attired, and apparently on very good terms with the

There is no question that the Mormons in all the settlements are fully posted on the war question, and the Indians seem quite as much interested as they are. They have rubbed up their firearms, cleaned their locks, and are particularly sparing in the use of powder and lead.

In the settlements south of Great Salt Lake City the Marrons were united and very huay throws here.

the Mormons were united, and very busy threshing their grain, which they had in great abundance from the last harvest. On the 6th of December, the day after arriving in this city, our informant attended at the preaching in the Tabernacle, and heard several of the leading men. Allusion was made by all the speakers to their peculiar polition in being beseiged by the troops on the East, but the gist of all was, particularly, the necessity of the people being united and exercising faith. From the preaching, and from conversations with several persons, it was easy to perceive that they all had great confidence in ultimate success. There were strong a viportations to perceive that they all had great confidence in ultimate success. There were strong exhortations to trust in the Lord, but at the same time there was no lack of effort to keep the powder dry. Nothing of importance had occurred very recently, so far as the Mormons were concerned; but the couriers were daily entering the city with reports from the "Eastern expedition," which caused considerable excitement every day. They have regular postal communications between the camp and the city, so that the absent lords were continually cheering their the absent lords were continually cheering their families with news.

The suffering among the United States troops was, naturally enough, a subject for congratulation in the City, when friends met. The believe in the entire destruction of the trape of the foot of the mountains and as many in the Spring; not by the sit to ap the valleys, but by the exercise. The Almighty's power." The Mormons see no possibility of the toops ever getting in, though the valleys should be be should on every side. The marrow de like must be troops ever getting in, though the valetys should be besieged on every side. The narrow deliles must be passed, in which todies of men can be awfiller harrassed by guerrilla parties, and for that business they seemed ready and well-skilled. They have stronger fortified Echo Canon—as the troops are now in that direction; but every other entrance will be made a place of defence before the summer. Every able-bodied man will be under arms as so may they have put in the spring crops, and they say that in the time of harvest—if the men canno return—the women and the rising generation, together with "the men and the rising generation, together with "the fathers in 1-ract," will lend their with Many of the women are not over-delicate in frame. Many of them, Buffalo-Cloudy and raining; wind W.; mercnry native of Europe, have been accustomed to the work of the field and factory; so that, under the actual supervision of Brigham, there is little doubt but much of the harvest, if not all, will be recured

An open light is not counted upon, but every other means of crippling the army will be resorted to, if once it becomes a matter of life and death. once it becomes a matter of life and death.

The party left the City on the 10th of Decembers. They came upon a Morinon came of rangers at smemouth of Eche-Cañon. They had a permit to go through the cafion, and concluded that if the Morinons continue the labors they have commenced there, it will be a fine "path to glory" in the spring. There were great numbers of treops in the cañon, passing and repassing. The Morinon solders were becoming accustomed to camp life, and looked well and contented. The cañon, with its towering mountains on every side, says our informant, looked frightful.

They passed on through the mountains and valleys till they reached Fort Muddy, from which they struck off, leaving Fort Bridger to the right, as they had no disposition to be detained even on the suspicion of being enemies or in league with the evermy. On passing down along the beach, about a mile and a half above Bridger, they saw the tents of the troops and some buts in course of receiving on the troops and some huts in course of erection on the "bottoms." There was an abundance of word in the vicinity, so that, if the army teams do not give:

out, the troops are not likely to suffer inconvenier or from scarcity. The weather was bitterly cold, and would be severely felt by those not in active exercise in and around the camps.

Some twenty miles below Bridger the party came back again on the main trail, where they found abundant evidences of the uncertainty of human affire and the effect of had calculating. The base affairs and the effect of bad calculations. The bones of the animals that had frozen to death, and somethat had probably died from being over-worked, were strewn along the road in great profusion. To have "numbered the dead" would have been a task.

Two or three teamsters were met coming up from the old camp of the army ou Green river, who were anything but pleased with the campaign. They gave a most discouraging account of the situation of the troops, and, so far as he awas concerned, the future looked to them do be awas concerned, the future looked to them do be awas concerned, the future looked to them do be awas concerned, the future looked to them do be awas concerned, the future looked to them do be awas concerned, the future looked to them do be awas concerned. They reported much document ment over the management of affairs, and though a first any had the opportunity, and could count on a good reception at Salt Lake, a pretty extensive stampede would be the result. Mormons were suspected of being in the camp in various capacities. At all events there was camp in various capacities. At all events there was no question but they had many friends there who posted them on the contemplated movements and posted them on the contemplated movements and positions of the enemy at every opportunity. Some few of their old acquaintance—whom they accuse of seeking their injury by calumny and "lies out of whole clob h'—(such gentlemen as Messrs. Magraw, Morrell, Hurt, and particularly Bridger) would dowell, the Mormons say, to arrange "their human affairs," for, if war begin, they are likely to be called upon. They should not boast alond in the camp, for they are "spotted."

FRANKFORT, Jan. 26, 3 P. M. Yesterday Major Thomas B. Helm, the efficient Assistant Clerk, who is acting as principal Clerk during the illness of Mr. McClarty, was so violently attacked with that scourge of mankind which Smith's tonic syrup was introduced to cure, that he was compelled to leave the Hall of the House and indulge in his ague fit at his room. Of course Mr.
Welbourne could not perform the business of the absolutely necessary. From the manifestations and actions of the Democracy on the recent contemplated appointment of that clever gentleman, J. M. S. McCorkle, to an assistant clerkship, I never dreamed that the intrusely Democratic House could be induced to confer an honor upon any one however. ed that the intrusely Democratic House could be induced to corfer an honor upon any one, however worthy, who did not pattake of their political complexion. What was my surprise, then, to see my friend Sam—not the original, but a worthy son—Mr. Samuel C. Sayre called to the position. Sam, who is one of the most "intense" of all Americans—Sam, who openly avows himself a "plug"—Sam, who is supposed to be in the confidence of the "Grand Secretary," and who, for aught I know, is agent for half a dozen brass knuck manufactories—Sam, who is a member of the "Frankfort clique"—yea, verily, Sam, who is a member of the "Frankfort clique"—yea, verily, Sam, who is living within a stone's throw of the "Free" himself, and who reports for that abominable plug-ngly sheet, the Frackfort Commonwealth. Tet, strange as it may seem, such was the case. As the party held my friend McClarty to such a strict account for daring to think of a prainting Mr. Mothe party held my friend McClarty to such a strict account for daring to think of appointing Mr. McCorkle, would it not be simply an act of retributive justice for the great unwashed constituency to hold their members to an equally strict account for their tacit endor ement of Sam by permitting him to occupy the clerk's table and trausact the business? Or course Mr. Savre acquitted himself to the satisfaction of all, and the business was not in the least retarded. I am happy to say that Major H. is well enough to be in his accustomed sent to-day.

The Printing Committee of the House was vesterday industriously engaged in inspecting the accounts of Col. II dozes, the Public Printer. When day industriously engaged in inspecting the ac-counts of Col. II dges, the Public Printer. When I tell you that not a single member of the commit-I tell you that not a single member of the commit-tee knew anything more about printing than a Hot-teentot knows about the conctitution of the Snooks-ville Deb sting Society, printers, if not the general reader, will appreciate their embarrassments when the Colonel told them he was allowed by law so much per thousand ems, and requested a count. The Colonel also informed them that he had to pay as much for fat matter as solid, which astonished them exceedingly, and 'tis said that one member of the committee who had formerly engaged to a limited exceedingly, and its said that one miniter of the committee who had formerly engaged to a limited extent in the pork trade, misapprehending the explanation, wished to regulate the price paid for the public printing by the market price of lard, but, apon being shown the difference between a printer's far and the cleaginous substance obtained from the lewish abonium ton, cave in, and after the comfat and the cleaginous substance obtained from the Jowish abomination, gave in, and, after the committee had attempted to digest a few more teclmical terms, they concluded not to go into a count of the bourgeois, brevier, and agate ems, but to report the accounts as O. K., the justice of which report will never he questioned by any one who knows our clever and faithful State Primer.

The chief subject of discussion in the Sonate today was the bull proposing to remunerate Col. Win. S. Rand for the expenses incurred by him in attending to the interests of Kentucky at the World's Fair at New York in the year 1855. Mr. Taylor advocated the bill at considerable length, but, when the vote was taken, it was negatived by a considerable when the bill at considerable length, but, when the vote was taken, it was negatived by a considerable majority. So over the dam goes the Colonel.

A bill was passed regulating the sale of vinous, malt, and spiritous liquors to slaves and free negroes, which only imposes heavier penalties upon persons so selling than the penalties already imposed by statute are heavy, but, when we reflect on all the evils arising from the use of alcoholic drinks by our slave population, it seems scarcely possible to throw too many restraints around the sale of such

by our save population, it seems scarcely possible to throw too many restraints around the sale of such articles to that particular class of individuals.

Mr. Whitak rolled a resolution to the effect that when the Leviloure adjourn on the 5th of February, it adjourn somble. As the resolution was a joint one, and a true rules of the House it must lie over one day, but when it comes up I have no doubt it will be promptly negatived.

The Senate adjourned to-day to meet on Thursday in consequence of the American Convention to be holden in this city on to-morrow. The other body was scarcely so considerate, notwithstanding they have tendered the use of the Hall to the convention. tion. Still I suppose when the honorable represen-latives meet in the morning they will adjourn without transacting any business.

In the House to-day the bill amending chapter 30 of the Revised Statutes, and also a bill amending section 9, chapter 24 of the Revised Statutes, passed almost without opposition. As I have already, in a ferner letter, given the substance of the amendments, it is scarcely necessary to repeat them. A bill amending the law in relation to wills also passed. ed. But the principal subject of debate was upon a bill requiring railroad companies to fence both sides of the entire length of their several roads. Mr. Lindsey advocated the bill at length, and Mr. Combs made an able speech against it. It was finalcombs made an able speech against it. It was finally laid on the table by a large majority. A bill was presented to-day amending the laws of expatriation, which was decidedly anti-illibusteric (if I may coin a word) in its character. The prompt resolution to lay it upon the table, and the large majority by which it was done, showed very conclusively that the House was decidedly in favor of fillibusterism, however prompt they may be to agree with the President in his views upon the Paulding and Walker difficulty.

Mr. Machen to-day reported his apportionment bill, which was only read by its title and ordered to be printed. I suppose we will get a peep at the prodigy to morrow, and, if so, I will immediately furnish you with a description.

A bill passed the House to-day creating a Criminal and Equity Court in the Fourth Judicial district.

It was warmly opposed, but was readily passed when the vote was taken.

We were furnished to-day with a couple of vetoes by his Excellency. One vetoing the bill appointing commissioners to run the county line between Pen-elleton and Letcher counties and the other vetoing a bill for the benefit of a school commissioner. The first was sustained without a dissenting voice, but the other bill was passed over the head of his Ex-rellency.

I am frequently asked, "When will the Legisla-ture adjourn?" It is impossible to say; but as Mr. Johnson, from a Select Committee appointed to as-certain the amount of business before the body, to-day reported, and as his report may throw some light upon the subject, I subjoin it:

light upon the subject, I subjoin it:

The Select Committee appointed to ascertain and report the amount of business in the hands of the Standing Committees, would respectfully report.

That there are before the Standing Committees, ready to be reported to the House, one haddred and fifteen hills of a general nature, and one hundred and eighty-five of a local or private nature.

This report does not include leaves which have not been seted upon. or have been rejected, of which your committee have ascertained that there are a large number.

This number of bills to be considered within the period of the present session will allow an average of eight minutes to each bill. If it be estimated that three minutes upon an average will be sufficient for the consideration of the local and private bills, there will be left seventeen minutes for the consideration of each general bill. This report is based upon the hypothesis that no new subject will be introduced; but as this is improbable, the committee are of epinion that the whole business cannot be acted upon miless the local and special bills are confined to an average of two minutes, and general bills to an average of tran ninutes.

Now, under this state of affairs, the question of when the Legislature will adjourn can only be determined by the solution of the problem, "Will the Democratic members transact the business for which they were sent here?" and what a Democratic Legislature will do "no man knoweth." ESTELLE.
